Petroleum (etc)

Our team at the Frac School invites you to attend the fourth annual Fracturing Technology User Roundtable (FracTUR) to be held at The Gaylord Texan Hotel in Grapevine, Texas. This conference is structured for the practicing production, reservoir, or operations engineer who is interested in the latest fracturing technologies.

In recent years, hydraulic fracturing has emerged as a vital technology enabling the development of new domestic gas and oil reserves. FracTUR is an event developed to focus attention on the application of new fracturing technology with the goal of fostering interaction between oil and gas operators, technology suppliers, and researchers.

This year the roundtable will focus on:

Fracturing Horizontal Wells in Complex Unconventional Reservoirs
